Haiyan Weishi is a manufacturing expert in nuts. In the past 25 years since 1995, the company has continued manufacturing GB/DIN/ANSI/BS-compliant standard nuts as well as supplying non-standard fasteners. Just recently, it announced the rollout of M30-M36 DIN934 nuts and 1-1/8, 1-1/4 nuts as an addition to the product line so that clients can purchase a complete range of nuts from small to large sizes straight from Haiyan Weishi. This enables the company to provide M5-M36 fasteners and other hardware parts in materials such as Q195, 35K, 45K, 10B33, and 40CR, raising its monthly capacity to 1,200 tons. Large nuts that could only be purchased elsewhere in the past are now available from Haiyan Weishi.

The company has been expanding and refurbishing the manufacturing area lately to create technologically top-notch manufacturing space. With the domestic and imported advanced cold forging and stamping equipment, the company can offer fasteners to the construction, highway/railway, automotive components, and furniture industries. Its strengths include punctual delivery, high quality, great service, and high credibility. The company saves time and trouble for clients from Southeast Asia, Italy, the U.S., South America, France, the Middle East, and North America. It will continue to expand business to other countries and markets in the future.

It was one of the companies in China to resume production immediately after the pandemic started last year, and was able to keep the livelihood of its employees and clients intact from the impact. "Haiyan Weishi is the right choice for your fastener purchase. We set a high bar for ourselves and don't take matters lightly in order to provide you with excellent products!" said General Manager Andy Huang. He hopes to increase the capacity, manufacturing efficiency and client satisfaction in the second half of 2021 for Haiyan Weishi to continue sprouting abroad. ■
